Patent Infringement

5. On March 20, 2012, United States Letters Patent No. 8,136,282 (“the ’282 patent) issued to the plaintiff for an invention in a display apparatus. The plaintiff owned the patent throughout the period of the defendant’s infringing acts and still owns the patent. A copy of the ’282 Patent is attached hereto as Exhibit 1.

6. On information and belief, Tex Visions has infringed and continues to infringe the ’282 Patent under 35 U.S.C. § 271 by, at least, making, using, selling, importing, offering for sale and/or using within this judicial district and elsewhere in the United States without authority or license, products covered by the ’282 Patent, and in particular, a display apparatus that embody each element of at least one of the claims of the ’282 Patent. These infringing products include, but may not be limited to, a display apparatus marketed as Tex Visions’ Roll Up Outdoor DS.

11. This is an exceptional case meriting an award of treble damages under 35 U.S.C. § 284.

12. Expand has been and continues to be irreparably damaged by Tex Visions' acts of infringement, and will continue to be damaged unless such acts are enjoined from further infringement.

4. That Tex Visions account and pay to Expand all damages caused to Expand by their patent infringement, and in accordance with 35 U.S.C. § 284, that such damages be trebled in view of the deliberate and willful nature of this patent infringement;
5. That Expand be granted its reasonable attorneys' fees, in accordance with 35 U.S.C. § 285, in view of the willful and deliberate infringement of Expand's '282 Patent;
6. That Expand recover prejudgment and post-judgment interest at the highest statutory rate on its damages, costs, and attorneys' fees, and
