COUNT I

INFRINGEMENT OF U.S. PATENT NO. 7,113,996

8. Plaintiff is the owner by assignment of United States Patent No. 7,113,996 ("the '996 Patent") entitled "Method and system for secured transport and storage of data on a network" – including all rights to recover for past and future acts of infringement. The '996 Patent issued on September 26, 2006. A true and correct copy of the '996 Patent is attached as Exhibit A.

9. Upon information and belief, SugarSync directly or through intermediaries is making, made, having made, installing, installed, using, used, importing, imported, providing, provided, supplying, supplied, distributing, distributed, selling, sold, offering and/or offered for sale services, products and systems (the "infringing services") that infringe or, when used by their intended users in the manner intended by SugarSync, infringe(d) one or more claims of the '996 Patent in the State of Texas, in this judicial district, and elsewhere in the United States. On information and belief, and without limiting or waiving Plaintiff's right to later amend or supplement its Complaint, SugarSync's infringing services include its SugarSync online file sharing service. Use of the infringing services in their intended manner infringes one or more claims of the '996 Patent. On information and belief, SugarSync promotes the use of the infringing services with the intent that they be used in a manner that infringes the '996 Patent. ‘996 Patent. Defendant SugarSync is thus liable for infringement of the ‘996 Patent pursuant to 35 U.S.C. § 271(a), (b) & (c).
