

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE DISTRICT OF DELAWARE

PAPST LICENSING GmbH & CO. KG,

Plaintiff,

v.

PANASONIC CORPORATION and PANASONIC CORPORATION OF NORTH AMERICA INC.,

Defendants.

Civil Action No. _____

JURY TRIAL DEMANDED

COMPLAINT

Plaintiff Papst Licensing GmbH & Co. KG (“Papst”), for its Complaint against defendants Panasonic Corporation (“Panasonic Japan”) and Panasonic Corporation of North America (“PCNA”) (collectively, “Panasonic defendants”), hereby alleges as follows:

The Parties

1. Plaintiff Papst is a company organized under the laws of The Federal Republic of Germany with its principal place of business at Bahnhofstrasse 33, 78112, St. Georgen, Germany.

2. Panasonic Japan is a Japanese corporation with its principal place of business at 1006, Oaza Kadoma, Kadoma-shi, Osaka 571-8501, Japan. Panasonic Japan manufactures and sells a wide range of consumer electronics products, including digital cameras.

3. PCNA is a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business at 2 Riverfront Plaza, Suite 200, Newark, NJ 07102-5490. PCNA imports and sells a wide range of consumer electronics products, including digital cameras.

4. PCNA is a wholly owned subsidiary of Panasonic Japan.

Nature Of The Action

5. This is a civil action for infringement of U.S. Patent Nos. 8,504,746 (“the ’746 patent”) (attached as Exhibit A) and 8,966,144 (“the ’144 patent”) (attached as Exhibit B) (collectively, the “Patents-in-Suit”) under the patent laws of the United States, 35 U.S.C. § 1 et seq.

Jurisdiction And Venue

6. This Court has jurisdiction over the subject matter of this action pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331 and 1338(a) because this action arises under the patents laws of the United States, including 35 U.S.C. § 271 et seq.

7. This Court has personal jurisdiction over the Panasonic defendants because, among other things, the Panasonic defendants have committed, aided, abetted, contributed to, and/or participated in the commission of patent infringement in violation of 35 U.S.C. § 271 in this judicial district and elsewhere that led to foreseeable harm and injury to Papst.

8. This Court also has personal jurisdiction over the Panasonic defendants because, among other things, the Panasonic defendants have established minimum contacts within the forum such that the exercise of jurisdiction over the Panasonic defendants will not offend traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice. For example, the Panasonic defendants have placed products that practice and/or embody the claimed inventions of the Patents-in-Suit into the stream of commerce with the reasonable expectation and/or knowledge that purchasers and users of such products were located within this district. In addition, the Panasonic defendants have sold, advertised, marketed, and distributed products in this district that practice the claimed inventions of the Patents-in-Suit. The Panasonic defendants derive substantial revenue from the sale of infringing products distributed within the district, and/or expect or should reasonably expect their actions to have consequences within the district, and derive substantial revenue from interstate and international commerce. Additionally, defendant PCNA is a Delaware corporate citizen and thus has willingly submitted to suit in this district. Additionally, the Panasonic defendants have availed themselves of this Court in previous lawsuits.

9. In addition, the Panasonic defendants knowingly, actively induced and continue to knowingly actively induce (or are willfully blind to the) infringement of one or more of the Patents-in-Suit within this district by making, using, offering for sale, and selling infringing products, as well as by contracting with others to use, market, sell, and offer to sell infringing products, all with knowledge of the asserted Patents-in-Suit, and their claims, with knowledge that their customers will use, market, sell, and offer to sell infringing products in this district and elsewhere in the United States, and with the knowledge and specific intent to encourage and facilitate infringing sales and use of the products by others within this district and the United States by creating and disseminating promotional and marketing materials, instructional materials, and product manuals, and technical materials related to the infringing products.

10. Moreover, the Panasonic defendants knowingly contributed to the infringement of one or more of the Patents-in-Suit by others in this district, and continue to contribute to the infringement of one or more of the Patents-in-Suit by others in this district by selling or offering to sell components of infringing products in this district, which components constitute a material part of the inventions of the Patents-in-Suit, knowing of the patents-in-suit and their claims, knowing those components to be especially made or especially adapted for use to infringe one or more of the Patents-in-Suit, and knowing that those components are not staple articles or commodities of commerce suitable for substantial non-infringing use.

11. Venue is proper in this district pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1391(b), 1391(c), and 1400(b), because the Panasonic defendants are subject to personal jurisdiction in this district and have committed acts of infringement in this district.

The Patents-In-Suit

12. United States Patent No. 8,504,746 (“the ’746 patent”), titled “Analog Data Generating And Processing Device For Use With A Personal Computer,” was duly and lawfully issued by the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office on August 6, 2013. A copy of the ’746 patent is attached hereto as Exhibit A. Papst is the assignee of all rights, title, and interest in the ’746 patent, and it possesses all rights to sue and recover for any current or past infringement of the ’746 patent.

13. United States Patent No. 8,966,144 (“the ’144 patent”), titled “Analog Data Generating And Processing Device Having A Multi-Use Automatic Processor,” was duly and lawfully issued by the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office on February 24, 2015. A copy of the ’144 patent is attached hereto as Exhibit B. Papst is the assignee of all rights, title, and interest in the ’144 patent, and it possesses all rights to sue and recover for any current or past infringement of the ’144 patent.

14. The ’746 patent was published by the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office on June 2, 2011 (as US Patent Publication No. 2011/0131353) with claims substantially similar to the later issued claims of the ’746 patent.

15. The ’746 patent issued from a continuation application to United States Patent Applications 10/219,105 and 09/331,002, which issued as United States Patent Nos. 6,895,449 and 6,470,399, respectively.

16. Papst and the Panasonic defendants have been engaged in litigation regarding United States Patent Nos. 6,895,449 and 6,470,399 in the case entitled Matsushita Elec. Indus. Co., Ltd. et al. v. Papst Licensing GmbH & Co. KG, 1:07-cv-1222 (D. D.C.) on July 6, 2007 and consolidated in In re Papst Licensing GmbH & Co. KG Litig., Misc. No. 07-493 (D. D.C.) on November 11, 2007.

17. On information and belief, the Panasonic defendants have monitored Papst's patent prosecution activities at least since entering litigation with Papst in 2008.

COUNT I

Infringement of U.S. Patent No. 8,504,746

18. Paragraphs 1 through 17 are incorporated by reference as if fully stated herein.

19. The '746 patent is valid and enforceable.

20. The Panasonic defendants have infringed, and continue to infringe, one or more claims of the '746 patent under 35 U.S.C. § 271(a), either literally and/or under the doctrine of equivalents, by making, using, selling, and/or offering for sale in the United States, and/or importing into the United States, products encompassed by those claims, including for example, by making, using, selling, offering for sale, and/or importing into the United States Panasonic digital cameras and digital video cameras that use or can be accessed via the Mass Storage Device/Mass Storage Class ("MSD") protocol, including without limitation digital camera models LUMIX DMC-FZ1000, LUMIX DMC-FZ70K, LUMIX DMC-SZ10K, LUMIX DMC-ZS50, LUMIX DMC-LX100, LUMIX DMC-LX7, LUMIX DMC-ZS45, LUMIX DMC-TS30, LUMIX DMC-GF7K, LUMIX DMC-FZ200K, LUMIX DMC-GH4KBODY, LUMIX DMC-LUMIX GH4-YAGH and all other models that use or can be accessed via MSD, and digital video camera models HX-A500H, HC-X920K, HC-V550K, HC-W570K, HC-WX970K, HC-

V770K, HC-V270K, HC-V160K, HC-VX870K, HC-X1000, and all other models that use or can be accessed via the MSD protocol (collectively, “the ’746 Infringing Products”).

21. The Panasonic defendants’ customers (e.g., distributors, retailers, and online vendors) directly infringe one or more claims of the ’746 patent under 35 U.S.C. § 271(a) by selling, offering to sell, or importing the ’746 Infringing Products in the United States. The Panasonic defendants have actively induced infringement of, and continue to actively induce infringement of, one or more claims of the ’746 patent under 35 U.S.C. § 271(b), either literally and/or under the doctrine of equivalents, by selling, importing, and/or offering for sale the ’746 Infringing Products to its customers with the knowledge of the ’746 patent and its claims, with knowledge that its customers will sell, offer to sell, and/or import into the United States the ’746 Infringing Products, and with knowledge and specific intent to encourage and facilitate those infringing sales of the ’746 Infringing Products through distributing the products to retailers, distributors, and online vendors and creating and disseminating promotional and marketing materials, instructional manuals, product manuals and other technical materials related to the ’746 Infringing Products.

22. The Panasonic defendants have contributed to the infringement of, and continue to contribute to the infringement of, one or more claims of the ’746 patent under 35 U.S.C. § 271(c) and/or 271(f), either literally and/or under the doctrine of equivalents, by selling, offering for sale, and/or importing into the United States, the ’746 Infringing Products, knowing that those products constitute a material part of the inventions claimed in the ’746 patent, knowing that those products are especially made or adapted to infringe the ’746 patent, and knowing that those products are not staple articles or commodities of commerce suitable for non-infringing use; rather that the components are used for or in systems that infringe one or more claims of the '746 patent.

23. The Panasonic defendants have had knowledge of the '746 patent and their infringement of that patent since at least as early as August 6, 2013, through a letter sent by Papst concerning that infringement.

24. On information and belief, the Panasonic defendants have also had knowledge of the '746 patent since the time it published as US Patent Publication No. 2011/0131353 on June 2, 2011, as a result of monitoring Papst's patent prosecution activities.

25. The Panasonic defendants have infringed, and continue to infringe the '746 patent.

26. Papst has been and continues to be damaged by the Panasonic defendants' infringement of the '746 patent.

27. The Panasonic defendants have willfully infringed, and continue to willfully infringe, the '746 patent despite having knowledge of the '746 patent at least through Papst's August 6, 2013, letter concerning their infringement.

28. The Panasonic defendants' conduct in infringing the '746 patent renders this case exceptional within the meaning of 35 U.S.C. § 285.

COUNT II

Infringement of U.S. Patent No. 8,966,144

29. Paragraphs 1 through 28 are incorporated by reference as if fully stated herein.

30. The '144 patent is valid and enforceable.

31. The Panasonic defendants have infringed, and continue to infringe, one or more claims of the '144 patent under 35 U.S.C. § 271(a), either literally and/or under the doctrine of equivalents, by making, using, selling, and/or offering for sale in the United States, and/or importing into the United States, products encompassed by those claims including for example, by making, using, selling, offering for sale, and/or importing into the United States Panasonic digital cameras and digital video cameras that use or can be accessed via the MSD, Picture Transfer Protocol (“PTP”), or Media Transfer Protocol (“MTP”) protocols, including without limitation digital camera models LUMIX DMC-FZ1000, LUMIX DMC-FZ70K, LUMIX DMC-SZ10K, LUMIX DMC-ZS50, LUMIX DMC-LX100, LUMIX DMC-LX7, LUMIX DMC-ZS45, LUMIX DMC-TS30, LUMIX DMC-GF7K, LUMIX DMC-FZ200K, LUMIX DMC-GH4KBODY, LUMIX DMC-GH4-YAGH and all other models that use or can be accessed via the MSD, PTP, or MTP protocols, and Panasonic digital video camera models HX-A500H, HC-X920K, HC-V550K, HC-W570K, HC-WX970K, HC-V770K, HC-V270K, HC-V160K, HC-VX870K, HC-X1000, and all other models that use or can be accessed via the MSD, PTP, or MTP protocols (collectively, “the ’144 Infringing Products”).

32. The Panasonic defendants’ customers (e.g., distributors, retailers, and online vendors) directly infringe one or more claims of the ’144 patent under 35 U.S.C. § 271(a) by selling, offering to sell, or importing the ’144 Infringing Products in the United States. The Panasonic defendants have actively induced infringement of, and continue to actively induce infringement of, one or more claims of the ’144 patent under 35 U.S.C. § 271(b), either literally and/or under the doctrine of equivalents, by selling, importing, and/or offering for sale the ’144 Infringing Products to its customers with the knowledge of the ’144 patent and its claims, with knowledge that its customers will sell, offer to sell, and/or import into the United States the ’144 Infringing Products, and with knowledge and specific intent to encourage and facilitate those infringing sales of the ’144 Infringing Products through distributing the products to retailers, distributors, and online vendors and creating and disseminating promotional and marketing materials, instructional manuals, product manuals and other technical materials related to the '144 Infringing Products.

33. The Panasonic defendants have contributed to the infringement of, and continue to contribute to the infringement of, one or more claims of the '144 patent under 35 U.S.C. § 271(c) and/or 271(f), either literally and/or under the doctrine of equivalents, by selling, offering for sale, and/or importing into the United States, the '144 Infringing Products, knowing that those products constitute a material part of the inventions claimed in the '144 patent, knowing that those products are especially made or adapted to infringe the '144 patent, and knowing that those products are not staple articles or commodities of commerce suitable for non-infringing use; rather that the components are used for or in systems that infringe one or more claims of the '144 patent.

34. The Panasonic defendants have had knowledge of the '144 patent and their infringement of that patent since at least as early as March 13, 2015, through a letter sent by Papst concerning that infringement.

35. The Panasonic defendants have infringed, and continue to infringe, the '144 patent.

36. Papst has been and continues to be damaged by the Panasonic defendants' infringement of the '144 patent.

37. The Panasonic defendants have willfully infringed, and continue to willfully infringe, the '144 patent despite having knowledge of the '144 patent at least through Papst's March 13, 2015, letter concerning their infringement.

38. The Panasonic defendants' conduct in infringing the '144 patent renders this case exceptional within the meaning of 35 U.S.C. § 285.

Prayer For Relief

WHEREFORE, Papst prays for judgment as follows:

A. That the Panasonic defendants have directly and/or indirectly infringed each of the Patents-in-Suit;

B. That the Panasonic defendants have willfully infringed each of the Patents-in-Suit;

C. That Papst be awarded all damages adequate to compensate it for the Panasonic defendants' infringement of the Patents-in-Suit, including damages pursuant to 35 U.S.C. § 284 and provisional damages pursuant to 35 U.S.C. § 154(d), such damages to be determined by a jury and, if necessary to adequately compensate Papst for the infringement, an accounting, and that such damages be trebled and awarded to Papst with pre-judgment and post-judgment interest;

D. That this case be declared an exceptional case within the meaning of 35 U.S.C. § 285 and that Papst be awarded the attorney fees, costs, and expenses that it incurs prosecuting this action; and

E. That Papst be awarded such other and further relief as this Court deems just and proper.

Demand For Jury Trial

Plaintiff Papst hereby demands a trial by jury on all issues so triable.
