

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE EASTERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS
TEXARKANA DIVISION

VENADIUM LLC,

Plaintiff,

v.

BLU PRODUCTS INC.,

Defendant.

Civil Action No. 5:15-cv-____

JURY TRIAL DEMANDED

ORIGINAL COMPLAINT FOR PATENT INFRINGEMENT

Plaintiff Venadium LLC files its Original Complaint for Patent Infringement based on its knowledge as to itself and based on information and belief as to all other matters as follows:

THE PARTIES

1. Venadium LLC is a Texas limited liability company with a principal office at 3000 Custer Road, Suite 270-219, Plano, Texas 75075.
2. Upon information and belief, Defendant BLU Products Inc. (“Defendant”) is a Delaware corporation with a principal office located at 10814 NW 33rd Street, #100, Doral, Florida 33172. Defendant’s registered agent for service of process is Bernard L. Egozi, Egozi & Bennett, P.A., 2999 NE 191st ST., Suite 407, Aventura, Florida 33180.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

3. This action arises under the Patent Act, 35 U.S.C. § 1, et seq.
4. Subject matter jurisdiction is proper in this Court under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331 and 1338.
5. This Court has personal jurisdiction over Defendant because at least a portion of the infringements alleged herein occurred in this District, and Defendant regularly does or solicits business, engages in other persistent courses of conduct, or derives revenue from goods and services provided to individuals in this District.
6. Venue is proper in this District under §§ 1391(b), (c), and 1400(b).

THE PATENT-IN-SUIT

7. On December 11, 2001, the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office duly and lawfully issued U.S. Patent No. 6,330,549 (the “549 patent”), entitled “Protected Shareware.” See Exhibit A.

8. Venadium is the owner and assignee of all right, title, and interest in and to the 549 patent.

COUNT I

DIRECT INFRINGEMENT OF U.S. PATENT NO. 6,330,549 UNDER 35 U.S.C. § 271(a)

9. Venadium incorporates by reference each of its allegations in paragraphs 1 to 8.

10. Without license or authorization, Defendant has directly infringed and continues to directly infringe, literally or under the doctrine of equivalents, one or more claims of the 549 patent under 35 U.S.C. § 271(a) by, among other things, making, using, offering for sale, or selling products that use the Bluetooth 4.0 standard within this District and elsewhere in the United States that perform at least a method for protecting a computer program from unauthorized use independently of any methodology for distributing the computer program to prospective users, the computer program including an embedded protective code, the method comprising the steps of: (a) inhibiting via the embedded protective code at least one functional feature of the computer program from running on a user computer until the user computer receives an authorization message that is digitally signed by an authorized party using a secret signing key, the secret signing key being associated with a public checking key; (b) providing the embedded protective code with access to the public checking key; (c) running an integrity self-check over the computer program to confirm that the computer program is in an anticipated state, the integrity self-check being embedded in the computer program; (d) communicating the authorization message to the user computer; (e) applying the public checking key to the authorization message for authenticating it; and (f) enabling said functional feature to run on the user computer if the authorization message is authenticated and if the integrity self-check result confirms that the computer program is in the anticipated state.

9. The Bluetooth 4.0 standard and the accused method is an integral part of
