16. The Product necessarily includes at least one server for hosting and storing media content for customers. For example, the Product necessarily includes at least one server (e.g., a cloud server) to store recorded security videos.

17. The at least one server necessarily includes a first receiver configured to receive a request message including data indicating requested media content (e.g., the server must have infrastructure to receive a request to store recorded security videos or to stream recorded video on a smartphone; additionally, the request message must contain data that identifies the video to be stored or streamed) and a consumer device identifier corresponding to a consumer device (e.g., the user credentials are used to tie a smartphone and user account to particular cameras and the videos they produce).

18. The Product necessarily includes a processor to determine whether the consumer device identifier corresponds to the registered consumer device (e.g., the server must authenticate a user's credentials to ensure that the credentials match those registered with a security camera which the user would like to access).

19. The Product provides for both media downloads and/or storage, and media streaming. A processor within the Product necessarily determines whether the request received from a customer is a request for storage (e.g., recording or storing content) or content (e.g., streaming of media content). The Product necessarily differentiates, via a processor, a user's request to store videos from a user's request to stream live content from the security camera.

20. The server verifies that media content identified in the media data of the storage request message (e.g., request to record content) is available for storage in order to prevent data errors that would result from attempting to store content that is not available for storage. For example, the server must verify that the media content (e.g. specific recording from a specific camera) identified in the media data of the storage request message is available for storage in order to prevent data errors that would result from attempting to store content that is not available for storage. Also, the server must verify that a particular security camera is adequately connected to the Internet as to allow for video recording and storage on the cloud. Additionally, a user's ability to store video is limited to a certain amount of memory usage based upon their subscription; thus, media content may not be available for storage if a user is already above their memory limit.

21. If a customer requests content (e.g., live streaming of media content), then a processor within the Product necessarily initiates delivery of the content to the customer's device. The server will initiate delivery of the requested media content to the consumer device (e.g. stream live camera feed to a smartphone or tablet) if the request message is a content request message (e.g. request for live streaming).

22. The media data includes time data that indicates a length of time to store the requested media content (e.g., a user is allowed to store videos for up to 60 days depending on the subscription plan).

23. The server must first determine whether the requested media content exists prior to initiating delivery in order to prevent data errors that would result from attempting to transmit media content that does not exist (e.g., the server must verify that a particular security camera is adequately connected to the Internet as to allow for video recording and streaming).

24. After the processor determines whether the requested media content is available, it determines whether there are restrictions associated with the requested media content (e.g., storage limits, component protocols, etc.).

25 Defendant's actions complained of herein will continue unless Defendant is enjoined by this Court.

26. Defendant's actions complained of herein is causing irreparable harm and monetary damage to Plaintiff and will continue to do so unless and until Defendant is enjoined and restrained by this Court.

27. Plaintiff is in compliance with 35 U.S.C. § 287.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff asks the Court to:

(a) Enter judgment for Plaintiff on this Complaint on all causes of action asserted herein;

(b) Enter an Order enjoining Defendant, its agents, officers, servants, employees, attorneys, and all persons in active concert or participation with Defendant who receives notice of the order from further infringement of United States Patent No. 8,856,221 (or, in the alternative, awarding Plaintiff a running royalty from the time of judgment going forward);

(c) Award Plaintiff damages resulting from Defendant's infringement in accordance with 35 U.S.C. § 284;

(d) Award Plaintiff pre-judgment and post-judgment interest and costs; and

(e) Award Plaintiff such further relief to which the Court finds Plaintiff entitled under law or equity.
