

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF ILLINOIS

SAMUEL LIT,

Plaintiff,

vs.

MOTOROLA MOBILITY, LLC

Defendant.

Case No.

COMPLAINT

Samuel Lit brings this patent-infringement action against Motorola Mobility, LLC.

Parties

1. Lit is an individual residing in Pennsylvania.
2. Motorola is a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business in Chicago, Illinois.

Jurisdiction and Venue

3. This action arises under the patent laws of the United States, 35 U.S.C. §§ 101 et seq.
4. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction over this action under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331 and 1338(a).
5. This Court may exercise personal jurisdiction over Motorola. Motorola's principal place of business is within this District; Motorola conducts continuous and systematic business in this District; and this patent-infringement case arises directly from Motorola's continuous and systematic activity in this District. In short, this Court's exercise of jurisdiction over Motorola would be consistent with the Illinois long-arm statute and traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice.

6. Venue is proper in this District pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1400(b).

Infringement of U.S. Patent No. 8,793,330

7. Lit is the exclusive owner of U.S. Patent 8,793,330 (the “‘330 patent”), which is attached as Exhibit A.

8. The ‘330 patent is valid and enforceable.

9. Motorola has and is directly infringing some or all of the 20 claims of the ‘330 patent. For example, and to illustrate one of the claims that Motorola infringes, Motorola infringes claim 16 as follows:

- a. Claim 16 is a “system for displaying content” with “a display carousel embedded into a website” having “one or more display windows configured to display said content and to revolve at a predetermined rate of speed[.]” (Ex. A (‘330 patent), col. 10:62-11:2.) Motorola operates the website <https://www.motorola.com/us/home>. That site includes a display carousel embedded in the site and contains display windows configured to display content and revolve at a predetermined rate of speed. For example, as of March 16, 2018, the site contained the following four windows that displayed content at the predetermined rate of speed of about six seconds: (i) “Phone Life Balance”; (ii) “moto x⁴”; (iii) “moto z² force edition”; and (iv) “Polaroid Insta-Share Printer.”
- b. The claim 16 includes “a display engine configured to deliver said content to said display windows of said display carousel when said website or webpage is displayed on a web browser, wherein said display engine is in communication with said website or webpage and a server of said system[.]” (Ex. A (‘330 patent), col. 11:3-7.) A display engine communicates with the Motorola site and a server, thereby powering the Motorola display carousel described above.

- c. Claim 16 includes “a database comprising storage and retrieval functionality for statistical and financial information about said content displayed on said display carousel, wherein said database is in communication with said server[.]” (Ex. A (‘330 patent), col. 11:8-11.) Motorola uses a database to track how many customers click through a window to purchase, for example, the moto x⁴ phone.
- d. In claim 16, the displayed content “is instantly passed between said display engine and said display carousel[.]” (Ex. A (‘330 patent), col. 11:12-13), as is done on the Motorola website when the display engine powers the display carousel.

Prayer for Relief

WHEREFORE, Lit prays for the following relief against Motorola:

- (a) Judgment that Motorola has directly infringed claims of the ‘330 patent;
- (b) For a reasonable royalty;
- (c) For pre-judgment interest and post-judgment interest at the maximum rate allowed by law;
- (d) For such other and further relief as the Court may deem just and proper.

Demand for Jury Trial

Lit demands a trial by jury on all matters and issues triable by jury.
