COUNT I
(Infringement of U.S. Patent No. 7,706,819)

11. Aeritas incorporates paragraphs 1 through 10 as though fully set forth herein.

12. Plaintiff is the owner, by assignment, of U.S. Patent No. 7,706,819 (the “819 Patent”), entitled MIXED-MODE INTERACTION, which issued on April 27, 2010. A copy of the ’819 Patent is attached as Exhibit PX-819.

13. The ’819 Patent is valid, enforceable, and was duly issued in full compliance with Title 35 of the United States Code.

14. Defendants have been and are now infringing one or more claims of the '819 Patent under 35 U.S.C. § 271 by making and using the Panera Bread App with users' iOS and Android devices and the Panera servers in the United States without authority.

15. Defendant has also infringed the '819 Patent by encouraging users of the Panera Bread App to use the user's iOS or Android devices with the Panera App to practice the claims of the '819 Patent.

16. Claim 1 recites:

1. A method comprising:
receiving spoken input from a wireless communication device;
obtaining data identifying a current location of the wireless communication device;
based on the current location of the wireless communication device and the spoken input, retrieving information;
delivering, to the wireless communication device by a notification server, a non-verbal response to the spoken input, the non-verbal response based on the retrieved information and including a drill-down menu by which additional information related to the retrieved information can be obtained; and providing additional information related to the retrieved information in response to receipt of at least one additional input provided via the drill-down menu.

17. More particularly, Defendants infringe at least claim 1 of the '819 Patent. Defendants receive spoken input from a wireless communication device (e.g., when a user searches for a location or specific store using voice input). Defendants obtain data identifying the current location of the mobile device (e.g., as evidenced by permissions required to access the device's location and subsequent provision of location-based information and the location of the device on a search result map). Based on the location and the spoken input, Defendants retrieve information (e.g., the nearby availability of stores subject to the voice search). Defendants deliver to the wireless device by a notification server, a non-verbal response to the spoken input, the non-verbal response based on the retrieved information and including a scroll-down menu by which additional information related to the retrieved information can be obtained (e.g., the nearby stores subject to the voice search, distance to mobile device). Defendants provide additional information related to the retrieved information in response to receipt of at least one additional input provided via the scroll-down menu (e.g., distance and other information about nearby stores in response to selection of the "nearest" link).

18. Aeritas has been damaged by Defendants' infringing activities.

COUNT II
(Infringement of U.S. Patent No. 8,055,285)

19. Aeritas incorporates paragraphs 1 through 10 as though fully set forth herein.

20. Plaintiff is the owner, by assignment, of U.S. Patent No. 8,055,285 (the "285 Patent"), entitled MIXED-MODE INTERACTION, which issued on November 8, 2011. A copy of the '285 Patent is attached as Exhibit PX-285.

21. The '285 Patent is valid, enforceable, and was duly issued in full compliance with Title 35 of the United States Code.

22. Defendants have been and are now infringing one or more claims of the '285 Patent under 35 U.S.C. § 271 by making and using the Panera Bread App with users' iOS and Android devices and the Panera server in the United States without authority.

23. Defendant has also infringed the '285 Patent by encouraging users of the Panera Bread App to use the user's iOS or Android devices with the Panera Bread App to practice the claims of the '285 Patent.

24. Claim 14 recites:

14. A method, comprising:

at a first time, receiving and storing an input in a user profile in a database, the input comprising consumer interest data;

at a second time distinct from the first time, obtaining data identifying a current location of the mobile communication device;

based on the input stored in the user profile and the current location of the mobile communication device, initiating a search to locate information pertinent to the input;

receiving results derived from the search; and in response to the input and the search, delivering, by a notification server, information to the mobile communications device.

25. More particularly, Defendants infringe at least claim 1 of the '285 Patent. Defendants receive and store an input in a user profile in a database, the input comprising consumer interest data (e.g., items in "Favorites"). At a second time, data identifying a current location of the mobile communications device on which the Accused Instrumentality is installed is obtained (e.g., upon application launch or return to Favorites). Based on the input and location, Defendants perform a search to locate pertinent information (e.g., selection of “Favorites” from the results in a search for nearby stores) and receive the results of such search, distance from mobile device. Defendants then provide the information to the mobile communications device.

26. Aeritas has been damaged by Defendants’ infringing activities.

COUNT III
(Infringement of U.S. Patent No. 9,390,435)

27. Aeritas incorporates paragraphs 1 through 10 as though fully set forth herein.

28. Plaintiff is the owner, by assignment, of U.S. Patent No. 9,390,435 (the “435 Patent”), entitled MIXED-MODE INTERACTION, which issued on February 6, 2018. A copy of the ’435 Patent is attached as Exhibit PX-435.

29. The ’435 Patent is valid, enforceable, and was duly issued in full compliance with Title 35 of the United States Code.

30. Defendants have been and are now infringing one or more claims of the ’435 Patent under 35 U.S.C. § 271 by making and using the Panera Bread App with users’ iOS and Android devices and the servers in the United States without authority.

31. Defendant has also infringed the ’435 Patent by encouraging users of the Panera Bread App to use the user’s iOS or Android devices with the Panera Bread App to practice the claims of the ’435 Patent.

32. Claim 1 recites:

1. Apparatus, comprising:

a processor;

computer memory holding computer program instructions to:

receive first data indicating a permission to provide a mobile device user a notification, the notification having an associated notification criteria;

at a given time, determine a location of a mobile device;

based at least in part on a determined location of the mobile device and the notification criteria, to provide to the mobile device the notification, the notification being associated at the mobile device with one of: an audible, visual and tactile alert;

receive second data as a result of an input being received at the mobile device following the notification; retrieve information associated with the input and the determined location of the mobile device; and provide to the mobile device a response to the input, the response based on the retrieved information.

33. More particularly, Defendants infringe at least claim 1 of the '435 Patent. On information and belief, Defendants employ a processor and computer memory holding computer program instructions to perform the functions described herein. Defendants receive data indicating permission to provide a notification to a mobile device user in accordance with notification criteria (e.g., according to App notification settings). At a given time, Defendants determine the location of the mobile device (e.g., as evidenced by permissions required to access the device's location and subsequent provision of location-based information). Based on the location and notification criteria, Defendants provide at least a visual alert notification (e.g., a push notification to the mobile device when a user arrives at a Panera store). Defendants receive second data as a result of an input being received at the mobile device (e.g., interaction with the notification), retrieve information associated with the input and location (e.g., information about the specific Panera store), and provide responsive information to the mobile device (e.g., store information). On information and belief, the program instructions include first and second components of a rules engine to evaluate notification criteria and execute notification rules (e.g., as evidenced by the provision of a notification based on conditions).

34. Aeritas has been damaged by Defendants' infringing activities.

COUNT IV
(Infringement of U.S. Patent No. 9,888,107)

35. Aeritas incorporates paragraphs 1 through 10 as though fully set forth herein.

36. Plaintiff is the owner, by assignment, of U.S. Patent No. 9,888,107 (the "107 Patent"), entitled MIXED-MODE INTERACTION, which issued on February 6, 2018. A copy of the '107 Patent is attached as Exhibit PX-107.

37. The '107 Patent is valid, enforceable, and was duly issued in full compliance with Title 35 of the United States Code.

38. Defendants have been and are now infringing one or more claims of the '107 Patent under 35 U.S.C. § 271 by making and using the Panera Bread App with users' iOS and Android devices and the Panera servers in the United States without authority.

39. Defendant has also infringed the '107 Patent by encouraging users of the Panera Bread App to use the user's iOS or Android devices with the Panera Bread App to practice the claims of the '107 Patent.

40. Claim 5 recites:

5. Apparatus, comprising:

a processor;

computer memory holding computer program instructions to:

receive first data indicating a permission to provide a mobile device user a notification, the notification having an associated notification criteria;

at a given time, determine a location of a mobile device;

based at least in part on a determined location of the mobile device and the notification criteria, to provide to the mobile device

the notification, the notification being associated at the mobile device with one of: an audible, visual and tactile alert;

receive second data as a result of an input being received at the mobile device following the notification;

retrieve information associated with the input and the determined location of the mobile device; and provide to the mobile device a response to the input, the response based on the retrieved information;

wherein the computer program instructions comprise a rules engine that comprises first and second components, a first component that evaluates the notification criteria, and a second component that executes notification rules.

41. More particularly, Defendants infringe at least claim 5 of the '107 Patent. On information and belief, Defendants employ a processor and computer memory holding computer program instructions to perform the functions described herein. Defendants receive data indicating permission to provide a notification to a mobile device user in accordance with notification criteria (e.g., according to App notification settings). At a given time, Defendants determine the location of the mobile device (e.g., as evidenced by permissions required to access the device's location and subsequent provision of location-based information). Based on the location and notification criteria, Defendants provide at least a visual alert notification (e.g., a push notification to the mobile device when a user arrives at a Panera store). Defendants receive second data as a result of an input being received at the mobile device (e.g., interaction with the notification), retrieve information associated with the input and location (e.g., information about the specific Panera store), and provide responsive information to the mobile device (e.g., store information). On information and belief, the program instructions include first and second components of a rules engine to evaluate notification criteria and execute notification rules (e.g., as evidenced by the provision of a notification based on conditions).

42. Aeritas has been damaged by Defendants' infringing activities.
