RE:

Spy Optic, Inc. v. 7-Eleven, Inc.

Patent Infringement
Our Ref.: SPYNO-000

Dear Sir/Madam:

Please be advised that our firm represents Spy Optic, Inc. of Carlsbad, California in patent, trademark, copyright and unfair competition matters. Spy Optic, Inc. is the originator and manufacturer of unique sunglass products. Due to the uniqueness or our client's sunglass products, our client has obtained numerous United States Patents for its sunglass products, including, U.S. Patent No. D564,570. We are enclosing a copy of our client's patent for your review.

It has recently come to our client's attention that your company is manufacturing, marketing and/or selling sunglass products which fall within the claim of our client's above-identified patent. Specifically, your product identified as the "Biohazard® Money Short 6656". We are attaching a photograph of your product for your reference as well as a copy of the receipt with the SKU number. As you probably know, under United States law, a patent owner is given the exclusive rights to manufacture, use, sell or import the claimed invention in the United States. Additionally, Title 35 of the United States Code provides monetary damages and preliminary and permanent injunctive relief for acts of patent infringement. Further, if such infringement is determined by a court to be willful, such damages can be trebled.

Accordingly, we must demand on behalf of our client that your company immediately cease and desist from all further sales, distribution and/or importation of infringing products, and immediately recall any such products that have already been distributed. Further, to the extent that your company has the infringing products manufactured by a third party, Spy Optic, Inc. requests identification of that third party or supplier. Also Spy Optic, Inc. demands an accounting of all such infringing products sold to date, together with copies of all invoices for such products, along with an indication of the amount remaining in inventory.

Due to the importance of this matter, Spy Optic, Inc. requests a response within fourteen (14) days of the date of mailing of this letter.

This letter is not intended to be a full statement of the facts in this matter, nor is it a waiver of any of our client's rights or remedies, whether at law or equity, or those of any respective parties, all of which are hereby expressly reserved.

Very truly yours,

Stetina Brunda Garred & Brucker
