- 6. Upon information and belief, Simatelex is a corporation organized and existing under the laws of Hong Kong with its principal place of business in Hong Kong.

A FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF (Direct Patent Infringement -- 35 U.S.C. § 271(a))

- 7. Wing Shing repeats the allegations contained in Paragraphs 1 through 6 above as if set forth in full.
- 8. The Design Patent concerns a novel ornamental design for a coffee maker. It was issued duly and lawfully to the inventor, John C.K. Sham, on July 12, 1994.

- 9. Mr. Sham assigned the Design Patent to Wing Shing by agreement dated as of June 10, 1996.
 - 10. The Design Patent is valid and enforceable.
- Wing Shing previously asserted a counterclaim against Sunbeam for infringement of the Design Patent, with respect to the model of coffeemakers known as the AD Series, in an adversary proceeding in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of New York, entitled Sunbeam Products, Inc. v. Wing Shing Products (BVI) Ltd. In a decision dated June 3, 2003, and reported at 293 B.R. 586, the Bankruptcy Court held after a trial that Sunbeam had infringed the Design Patent, and entered judgment accordingly. This Court by decision dated June 29, 2004, and reported at 311 F.Supp.2d 378, and the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, by decision dated August 24, 2005 and reported at 153 Fed. Appx. 703, affirmed that judgment of the Bankruptcy Court. The Supreme Court of the United States denied on or about January 9, 2006 the petition of Sunbeam for a writ of certiorari.
- 12. Wing Shing has asserted a claim against Simatelex in this Court with respect to the model of coffeemaker known as the AD Series, 01 Civ. 1044 (RJH). That action remains pending.

- 13. Sunbeam and Simatelex have nevertheless infringed, and continue to infringe, the Design Patent by their sales of coffee makers known as the AR Series, the MR. COFFEE COMMERCIAL and substantially similar models.
- 14. Wing Shing will suffer irreparable harm in the absence of a preliminary and permanent injunction restraining further sales of these infringing models.
- 15. Wing Shing is entitled to a monetary recovery from Sunbeam and Simatelex, including but not limited to the greater of its damages or their total profits from the infringement.
- 16. Sunbeam's design patent infringement was willful. Accordingly, Wing Shing is entitled to recover three times its damages or defendants' total profits, whichever is greater, plus costs including attorneys' fees.

A SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF (Actively Inducing Infringement -- 35 U.S.C. § 272(b))

- 17. Wing Shing repeats the allegations contained in Paragraphs 1 through 16 above as if set forth in full.
- 18. Upon information and belief, with actual or constructive knowledge of the Design Patent, Simatelex has actively induced Sunbeam and/or one or more of Sunbeam's affiliates to infringe the Design Patent.

- 19. Wing Shing will suffer irreparable harm in the absence of a preliminary and permanent injunction restraining further infringing acts.
- 20. Wing Shing is entitled to a monetary recovery from Simatelex, including but not limited to the greater of the damages of Wing Shing or the total profits of Simatelex from the infringement.
- 21. Simatelex's design patent infringement was willful. Accordingly, Wing Shing is entitled to recover three times its damages or the total profits of Simatelex, whichever is greater, plus costs including attorneys' fees.

WHEREFORE, Wing Shing demands judgment:

- A. Preliminarily and permanently enjoining defendants, their officers, directors, employees, and attorneys and all those acting in concert with them, from infringing the Design Patent in violation of 35 U.S.C. § 271;
- B. Awarding Wing Shing its damages and/or defendants' total profits from its infringement of the Design Patent;

- E. Granting such other and further relief as to this Court seem just and proper.
